Consumer Watchdog, amicus curiae, respectfully requests the Court's permission to appear at the Fairness Hearing in the above-captioned action, currently scheduled for February 18, 2010.

If granted permission to appear, Consumer Watchdog intends to briefly highlight why the proposed settlement, as currently constituted, violates the Berne Convention and unfairly favors one player in a complex copyright matter that would be more appropriately resolved by the U.S. Congress. Further, Consumer Watchdog intends to briefly discuss why it may be in the public's best interest for the Court to resolve the case's underlying questions concerning fair use. Consumer Watchdog has no financial interest in the outcome of the litigation, and thus can offer the Court an independent and unbiased perspective.

Dated: February 3, 2010

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Daniel J. Fetterman
